Water Droplet Collage

Tear, cut and glue paper to create a collage inspired by water!

Featured Book: Water Can Be... by Laura Purdie Salas, illustrated by Violeta Dabija (Millbrook Press, 2014)

Book Description: an illustrated description of the many forms and uses of water in nature.

Reading level: ages 5-8

Let's talk about this artwork!

What shapes can you find?

What colors do you see?

How might the artwork feel?
Rough? Smooth?

If this sculpture could talk,
what would it say?

How might this sculpture be used for? What makes you say that?

If you could make an artwork
about water, what would it look like?

Step 1

Cut or tear a light blue sheet into small pieces.

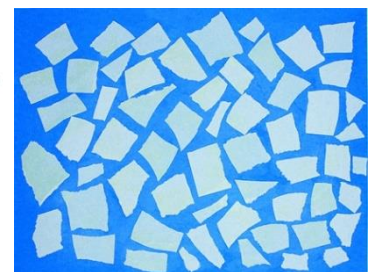

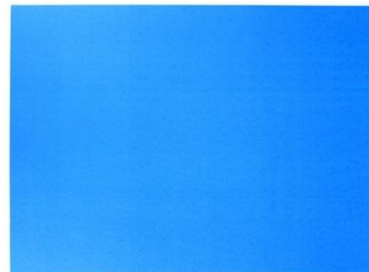

Helpful hint:

keep pieces about stamp-size.

Step 2

Glue the light blue pieces onto the dark blue paper. Set aside.

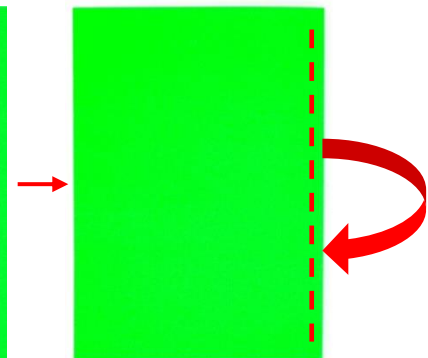

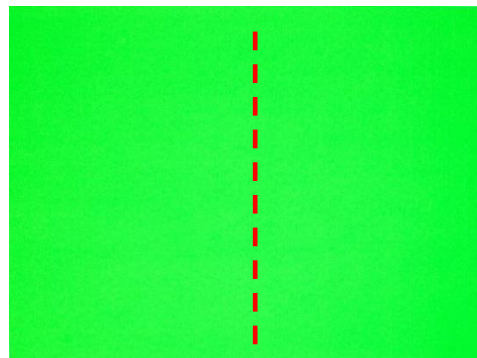

Step 3

Choose any color sheet you want and fold it in half hamburger-style.

Helpful hint:

pick a bright color that looks good with blue!

Step 4

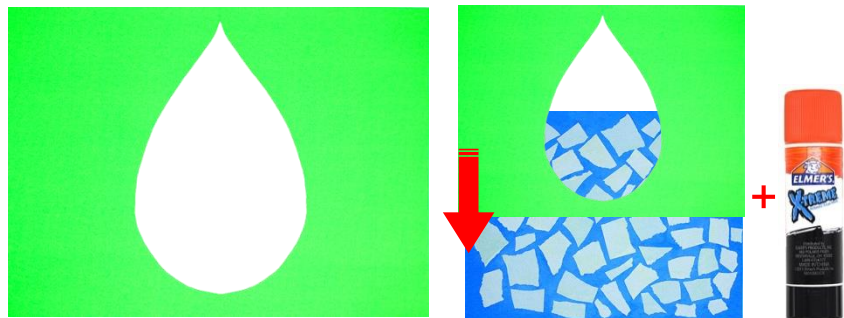

Cut or tear out a C-shaped hole from the folded side of the sheet.

Note: do not cut the paper in half!

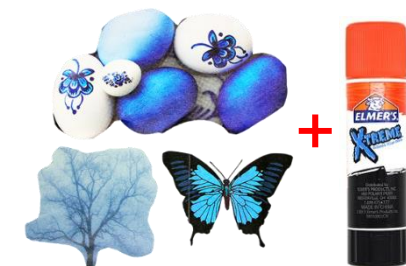

Step 5

Unfold the paper to see your water droplet shape! Glue this paper on top of the blue collage to turn your water droplet blue.

Step 6

Search for blue objects (blue sky, blue butterfly or birds) in magazines and cut or tear them out. Glue them to your water droplet for more fun!
